TRIBUTE PORTFOLIO

Villa Ermellina is Siena's new benchmark for luxury hospitality: an urban resort that blends the aristocratic elegance of the past with a contemporary spirit, designed for both sophisticated travellers and high-profile events. Located just 2.5 km from Siena's historic centre, the property is set within more than four hectares of parkland, with privileged views over the city skyline and the Val d'Orcia.

Villa Ermellina was reborn through 753 Hospitality Group, in partnership with Marriott International, joining the prestigious Tribute Portfolio collection – Marriott's brand dedicated to independent hotels with distinctive character and a strong sense of place.

"A place where Tuscan heritage and contemporary refinement converge, embracing the legacy of Marchesa Ermellina and transforming it into a unique sensory experience."

History and Identity

The Villa Today

Once the country residence of Siena's noble Bargagli family and later home to Hotel Garden for sixty years, the villa takes its name from Ermellina Bargagli Stoffi, a spirited 19th-century Marchesa and tireless ambassador for the city she loved.

In 2025, 753 Hospitality restored the property to the vocation that has always defined it: welcoming life's most important stories. London-based studio Goddard Littlefair reinterpreted Siena's heritage through a refined palette, bespoke furnishings and atmospheric lighting – a villa where historic architecture and contemporary elegance meet.

A place described in the chronicles of the time as:

"The most beautiful of all the villas surrounding Siena."
